

Agriculture students visits ICAR-National Research Centre for Orchids, Pakyong - Sikkim

19/01/2018: A team of 19 students including two faculty members from the College of Agriculture, Lembucherra - Tripura, visits the ICAR- National Research Centre for Orchids, Pakyong – Sikkim on January 19’ 2019. The visit in the institute was a part of the student’s Educational Tour from the college. A brief interaction on importance orchid was delivered with reference to mandate, vision and objectives of the institute, followed by farm visits and other research facilities. The prospect and potential of orchid’s research was also highlighted emphasizing on conservation and breeding of this highly prized crop.